Next Meeting: August 17, 2013

22620 Bothell-Everett Hwy.

Bothell, WA. 98021

Every year about this time Patty and I look at each other and say "What were we thinking? June was a busy month and now we're looking at July which is the busiest month of the year, not to mention August. We literally don't have an open weekend until sometime in September. I know I should be taking about what's coming up but let's review our busy June instead. Most of you know by now that Chapter C had their last meeting on June 8th. Patty and I, Bill and Caryl, Ron and Violet and John all went to their last meeting and let the few Chapter C members that were there, know that they were welcome at chapter E. Not only are we happy to pick up a few new members, we are also glad to have our own Lee Ann and Russell, Bruce and Sandy and Rodney back at Chapter E full time. Our district director Susie Hutchinson was there and explained what takes place to close the chapter and announced that chapter E would take over the "Early Spring Fun Run". We will start working on that sometime in September as we will want fliers out for the "District Leadership Workshop" in October.

Patty and I could not make the Darrington loop ride after the June meeting, but I heard that it was a good day and John did a great job leading the ride, that ended at the Everett Power Sports open house.

On June 22nd several of us went to the Chapter B "Harvest Run" in Bremerton. The ride took us through the back roads around Bremerton, Port Orchard and Gig Harbor with some beautiful scenery along the beaches of Key Peninsula. Doughnuts and coffee were served before the ride. Afterwards, there was a hot dog and chili feed and live music provided by Dave Schaffer, a Chapter B member.

"Bob's Omak Loop" was another success! We started out from Canyon Park with five bikes and added two more in Monroe. Ron and Violet brought up the rear in their car. Ironically, we left the west side in beautiful sunny weather and rode into threatening skies in Eastern Washington. After fuelling up the bikes and picking up picnic supplies at Safeway in Leavenworth, we proceeded on to Wenatchee where it started to rain huge drops. As we crossed over the bridge west of downtown Wenatchee we could see that it was storming north up the river and we changed plans literally in the middle of the stream (ok, bridge) and went east through East Wenatchee and stopped for a picnic at the county "Aqua Park" along the river. With threatening skies and thunder bearing down on us we found a nice clean, covered picnic area to have lunch. As it turned out the rain missed us and continued North and we continued East through Quincy, Ephrata and Soap Lake with a stop at Dry Falls.

After a short break at Dry Falls, we decided that since it was pushing 2:00 we should shorten up the ride from there and proceeded North on SR-17 past Chief Joseph Dam through Bridgeport and on to Omak, arriving around 4:15. Rick and Sue and David and Leah were already there waiting for us with ice cold beer. The motel pool was closed which didn't make us very happy, but we enjoyed visiting by the pool anyway and John went down and made 7:00 reservations for all of us at our favorite Mexican restaurant. After dinner we all went back to visiting by the pool and in comes Scott and Karla. Evidently they had enough rain up in the mountains and decided to join us at the motel.

We woke to beautiful cloudless skies the next morning and after a little breakfast at the motel we pulled out around 8:30. It was a text book ride home over "Loup Loup" pass, through Twisp and Winthrop and over the North Cascades Hwy. We stopped at the little BBQ joint in Mablemount for lunch then proceeded down SR-530 through Darrington, into Arlington and south to home on Hwy - 9. It was a great ride. Can't wait until next year!

THE EAGLE OOPS AWARD

Oh Oh!

The current recipient of the Eagle Oops award is Bob Spencer. He was nominated by John Smith, the previous winner of the award. The reason for Bob winning the award was one of those deals “where you just had to be there” to understand. The membership in attendance at the May chapter meeting unanimously voted for Bob to receive this cherished award.

Rider Education

by Mike Briggs

Chapter E Rider Education

Lynn and I rode the after-gathering ride last month and we had a great time. The route was scenic, the breaks were perfect and the weather couldn't have been better. I did get to thinking that we really haven't talked much about "group riding". So I thought I would do an FAQ this month and write about some of the things we need to do when we "Team Ride"

Why do we Team Ride? When we ride as a "bunch" of riders there is increased risk and a many times frustration on both the riders and motorists. When we ride as a team, we not only look good, we feel better, there is less risk, we all understand our roles as riders and we have a lower stress, more enjoyable ride.

What are some of the things that we do when Team Riding? We have a discussion prior to leaving, it's called a riders meeting. Not overly formal, but provides the following information to all of the riders

- The route
- The planned breaks
- The length
- Any particular difficult or congested areas
- CB channel
- Lead and Drag riders

What or who is a 'Lead Rider'? The lead rider is an experienced rider who sets the speed, and tone for the ride. The Lead Rider maintains communications including speed changes, lane changes or any alteration in the ride. In addition he/she listens to the team members especially those who may be new or inexperienced in riding in a team

What's a 'Drag Rider'? secures lanes for the team, watches for anything out of the ordinary, drowsy riders, riders not paying attention, other motorists being aggressive or anything else that may increase risk to the team. Communicates with the Lead Rider

What do the 'Team Riders' have to do? As a team rider you always rider your own ride. We way that a lot but what it means is you have to ride within your abilities. If you don't feel comfortable at a certain speed or type of riding, you need to talk to the Lead Rider and he/she will adjust those things as needed. You need to be prepared. That means dressed, fueled and ready to ride at the appropriate time. You also need to keep the CB talk to a minimum at least in congested areas. You need to maintain proper spacing and position in the lane.

How big are the teams and how are they organized? Teams are 7 bikes maximum, if there are more bikes, then there are several teams! We use a staggered system that is the first bike generally is in the left track of the lane, the next bike is in the right track of the lane and so forth. The number two bike is at least 1 second behind the number one bike and so on through the team, this is in perfect conditions, weather and traffic would change that.

I want to ride with my friend and he is in a different team. Sometimes you end up on a team that doesn't have your best buddy on it. That's really ok because it's an opportunity to ride with others that you may not have ridden with before. In any case, you will all arrive at the same location and break spot, just a few minutes before or after your friend. If it's really important to you, then make sure that you have a conversation with the Lead Rider before everyone is mounted up and ready to go. Most of the time these things can be accommodated.

What side to trikes and sidecars ride on? Generally, trikes and sidecars rider near the rear of the team. If you are behind one, you need to maintain a minimum 2 second following distance as they take up more of the lane.

What happens if there is a problem or breakdown? The rider with the problem notifies, either on the radio or with hand signals there is an issue and the Drag Rider pulls over with the bike. In the meantime, the Lead Rider finds a safe place to pull over with the rest of the group and then communicates with the drag rider to determine the next course of action.

There is quite a bit more to team riding but this gives you some basic information to help you understand how it works. I have noticed that I am at a higher stress level when the riders in the group I am riding with don't ride this way. I imagine that's the same for others as well. I am going to continue this theme as we move forward through the riding season so that we can ride in a team with confidence and knowledge. If you have questions or want to talk more about this, let me know.

Thanks, Mike and Lynn

The 2013 Kinetic Sculpture Race

The World Championship Kinetic Sculpture Race must be seen to be believed. Where else can a 10' tall shoe and a huge dead ant be seen travelling down Hwy 101? Not breathing with a crew of 11.

Hwy 101? Not breathing with a crew of Lana, Kujo The Magnificent (his pirate name, but that is another story), and I put the Goldwing on the back of the motorhome and drove the 600 miles south to the Northern California town of Eureka. At the KOA we met up with three other couples from the San Jose chapter that were brave enough to face the unknown. What a way to spend Memorial Day weekend!

The Kinetic Sculpture Race is a contest vehicles that must be able to traverse city and down sand dunes, go through mud, and Bay. Most contraptions are built using sculpture of some kind covering the frame. into making a functional frame, most groups top of the same frame each year.

between human powered streets, the open road, up swim through Humboldt bicycle parts with a Because so much work goes put different sculptures on

The race starts on Saturday in the town of Arcata. The town square is taken over by retired hippies with too much time on their hands. Who else would be able to craft such wonderful devices? There is live music, vendors, and a lot of newbies with their mouths open in disbelief. You can always tell who the first timers are.

After the required and most often hilarious Brake Check where the contestants are encouraged to bribe the judges, all of the entries race around the town square and then head out of town. The first obstacle to be faced is Dead Man's Drop, a steep sand covered hill that also slopes sideways. Buzzards can usually be seen circling overhead in spite of the crowds of people yelling and screaming for their favorites. One of the awards is for Best Wipeout while dropping over the edge. This is one of the spots where legends are born...

The survivors then head back to Eureka to camp for the night. The next morning is the infamous Water Crossing, where the sculptures ride down a boat ramp and try to make it to another boat ramp a mile away without tipping over, sinking, or steering wildly out of control. Another award goes to the Biggest Splash on entry. One poor fellow had a tricycle shaped frame and collapsed his front forks when he hit the water too hard. Bummer. It is always entertaining to watch the entries that haven't tested their sculptures to see if they actually float or not.

After getting out of the water, they make their way through city and country roads to camp on the beach. The next morning the officials decide if there is to be another water crossing. If the weather is too bad they ride around the inlet to the finish line in the city of Fortuna. Unfortunately, it was raining for the better part of the day, so they took to the roads.

There is a narrow bridge crossing a river before getting into Fortuna, and all entries waited in a parking lot at the foot of the bridge so they could block traffic and all cross at once. An impromptu party broke out while waiting with loud music and dancing. Once they had all grouped up (it took over an hour), they headed up and over the bridge and raced to Fortuna. Some entries can really move along at a good clip while others not so much. Even though they all left at the same time, by the time they got to the finish line they were spread out by an hour.

Once the race was over, the sculptures lined both sides of the street and everybody had a party!

SUPER GLUE™

By: Karla Edwards

As many of you know, I like to ride the dirt and occasionally have a few bad get off's. These are unplanned often resulting in undesirable outcomes including cuts, bruises, bleeding, etc. I recently read an article about the use of Super Glue™ and ran to the store to purchase glue for each of our first aid kits. This sounds crazy I know, however if you need emergency treatment and a physician is not readily available Super Glue can stop bleeding quickly, close small cuts, and lead to less scarring, however for the deep wounds head straight to the emergency department. Again, super glue can be useful and should only be used in emergencies as it can also irritate the skin.

During the Vietnam War, although not approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration, medic's carried Super Glue to heal wounds, stop bleeding and was credited for saving lives.

Remember, use at your own risk and go with the theory less is more. Avoid getting the glue on your fingers so that you're not stuck trying to free your fingers from your wound. Super Glue should never be used on your lips, cuts over joints, cuts over tight skin, wounds with a high risk of infection like animal bites, and deep wounds that involve damage to muscles or tendons. Liquid bandage would be a good substitute. Other things that work in an emergency are sanitary napkins and tampons! They are absorbent and are actually used by medics to control bleeding from wounds.

Make sure that you clean the wound thoroughly with soap and water, dry the skin and make sure you've stopped the bleeding, bring the two sides of the wound together and place the glue along the cut. Remember less is more with Super Glue! As the wound closes, it will expel the glue and will eventually peel off. Once the glue is placed along the wound, keep both sides together until the glue dries. For larger wounds you will want to leave a side open so there is some opportunity for draining. However best to get yourself proper medical attention if possible!

Industry tidbits:

Honda still has six new product announcements coming yet this year and they have already announced about six wonderful new products. The CTX 700 with dual clutch automatic shift is next due on July 8th and the full fairing version of this interesting motorcycle is due out at the end of July. Think in terms of affordable and think in terms of user friendly! No, its not a Gold Wing but its really a friendly entry level mid size motorcycle..

Good news for Gold Wing riders is that right now Honda has a 1.9% interest rate for all Gold Wing sales to include the standard Gold Wings and the F-6B. . . and, yes, we're discounting setup charges on all of them!

The Ride for Kids on Sunday Sept. 8th has a new format and a number of program changes. I like most of them insofar as the program will now allow people to be on their way home earlier in the afternoon. We're working hard to make this important event truly gratifying and enjoyable as it has been in past years. I hope to see everyone there to enjoy the lunch and program as well as the parade style ride. Our escorts have been doing a great job in recent years to make this ride very safe and smooth. I hope to see all of you there.

F4 WINDSHIELD

By: Gordon Bousman

Recently I replaced my stock Honda windshield with a F4 windshield. F4 windshields are noted for their high resistance to scratching, clarity, and ability to shed rain. I had a tall "Tusla" windshield on my previous bike and I really liked it for the improved wind protection at high speeds. Tinted windshields just became an option in March for the F4 products and I decided to take a gamble and order a F4 +4 version windshield with the tint. The +4 version of F4 windshields are 4 inches taller than the stock Honda windshield raised to its highest position. The +4 version does not adjust however but for me, that is O.K. The entire removal/installation took only 45 minutes—it is a very straight forward process using just a few common tools. I especially like the fact that I do not hit my helmet on the F4 windshield when mounting the bike—which was something I was constantly doing with my previous Tulsa windshield (the F4 +4 windshield does not tilt back as much as the Tulsa windshield). I've decided that the tint was to my liking especially on a sunny day and the helmet area turbulence that I experienced at high speeds before is non-existent now. The only negative feature that I have noticed on very bright days is that I am getting some glare from the center console (ignition key area) on the windshield however I had the same issue with my Tulsa windshield as well so I have learned to ignore it. F4 windshields are available with or without vents; I elected to go with no vent since I have Baker air wings that I can turn in for more air when needed.

By the way, F4 Customs now supplies Baker Built air wings with their F4 break and scratch resistant material—so if you buy Baker Built air wings now or in the future, they will be made of the same tough windshield material.

You can learn more at the F4 Customs web site: <http://www.f4customs.com/>

Pacific Coast Clam Chowder

Submitted by: Jim Roberson

Pacific Coast Clam Chowder

Ingredients

- ¼ pound thick sliced bacon, chopped
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- ¾ cup celery, chopped
- 3 cups potato, peeled and diced
- 1 cup or more fresh clams, shucked and diced or 3-4 cans chopped canned clams
- 1-1/2 cups clam juice or chicken stock
- 2-3 cups half and half
- ¼ cup butter
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 1 cup half and half
- salt and freshley ground black pepper
- ½ cup parsley, chopped
- chopped bacon and oyster crackers for garnish

Instructions

1. Fry bacon in a soup pot until crisp. Remove with a slotted spoon and drain on a paper towel. Remove all but 2 tablespoons bacon fat and saute the chopped onion and celery until translucent. Add potato and clam juice or broth and simmer until potatoes are tender, about 15-20 minutes.
2. If you are using fresh chopped clams simmer them in a little salted water for 5-10 minutes until firm. If using canned clams drain off the liquid and add enough broth to make 1-1/2 cups to cook the potatoes.
3. When the potatoes are tender add desired amount of half and half to the soup. Heat to barely simmering.
4. Melt ¼ cup butter in a medium saucepan. Stir in 3 tablespoons flour and blend well. Cook for 2 minutes, then mix in 1 cup half and half and stir constantly until sauce is creamy and thick. Add this mixture slowly to the simmering soup until it is the consistency you like. Simmer soup for 5-10 minutes.
5. Serve garnished with chopped parsley, bacon bits and warmed oyster crackers.

Man Accused of Killing Lawyer Receives a New Attorney

By Scott Samsler
Staff Writer

Charged in the murder of his former attorney, Miguel Trujillo has been appointed another attorney from the public defender's office.

Judy Reed, from the Public Defender's Department in Albuquerque, had no comment, saying that she had just been given the case with no time to review it.

Trujillo had recently rejected his previous court-appointed attorney of six months, Marc Robert.

An attorney from out of district was hired because most of the attorneys working for the Public Defender's Department out of Santa Fe knew Carlos Vigil, the man Trujillo is accused of murdering in a drive-by shooting.

Vigil was murdered Aug. 13, 1999, a few blocks from his South Street office while walking to District Court for a hearing.

A lime-green, early model Ford pickup was spotted in the area linking Trujillo to the scene.

Assistant District Attorney Richard Salazar said the court was walking for an attorney to represent Trujillo to be found to schedule the next hearing.

All First District Court judges were disqualified from the hearings, with Judge Stephen Miller excused. The Supreme Court appointed Second District Court Judge Neil Candelaria from Albuquerque to oversee the hearings.

Trujillo is accused of an open charge of murder, two counts of executing a witness or witness, one charge of tampering with evidence, and one charge of being a felon in possession of a firearm.

Trujillo paid no bail. He faces up to 90 years in prison.

LET'S TRY TO SHOW STRONG SUPPORT FOR THE SAFE PLACE

Here is their Press Release:

EVERETT, Wash. -- A unique shelter is now open in Snohomish County so kids don't have to spend hours in the back of a social worker's vehicle when taken into state protection.

"If a social worker removes a child at night, they drive around in cars or take them to Denny's or sit in a parking lot sometimes," said Todd McNeal. "There just isn't a place to take them."

But on East Casino Road, inside what looks like an old office building, is McNeal's sanctuary for at-risk kids 12 and younger, a bridge between home and foster home they call Safe Place.

"I hope the kids feel loved on, snuggled, at ease, safe," said Mary McNeal, Todd's wife.

Six years ago the McNeals took their first foster child into their home, they said, and they never stopped. They've also adopted and taken guardianship over several of their foster children.

"If my heart doesn't break for the kids who come in and out of my home, whose heart is going to break for them?" Mary said.

"We work with foster kids, with poor kids, with immigrant families, " Todd said. "It is our passion to care for children and for those with no voice."

But Saturday's grand opening of Safe Place takes the McNeal's passion one step further. It's their state licensed but volunteer-run and donation-funded shelter for young kids caught in emergency situations.

When police and social workers take kids from dangerous situations, like homes with domestic violence or drug activity, it can often take hours to find proper foster homes for the children, said the McNeals.

"Due to the shortage of foster homes, that can be time consuming," said Todd. "Many times, sibling... are split up, you're just shopping for an empty bed over the weekend. There just simply isn't time at 1 o'clock on a Saturday night to find the right home."

"We would get calls in the middle of the night, usually from frantic social workers who had just picked up a child from a drug bust," Mary McNeal. "It's hard for the kiddos too that get pulled, when they're in the back seat of the social workers car and they hear, 'Can you take Johnny and Susie? Oh, you can't.'"

Located in a renovated medical clinic, Safe Place contains beds, games, toys, clothes and food for the kids. It also has an office space where social workers can continue a search for proper foster placement.

About 10,000 foster kids are in Washington, Todd said, and he hopes Safe Place can eventually serve those in Snohomish, Skagit and Whatcom counties. The McNeals said they and a few other foster families will run Safe Place as volunteers, though with enough funding, they hope to hire staff. "We would love to see this open 24-7... but we would also love for people to copy this," he said. "We're an open book."

WING WASHINGTON - 2013

Wing Washington is a motorcycling event that will take you, your motorcycle, and your camera to many scenic and interesting locations throughout the state of Washington. We have compiled a list of 25 sites. Themes include: Haunted Places, Distilleries, Unusual Museums, Middle Schools, and Road Houses For long distance riders that enjoy a challenge, there are 12 bonus sites comprised of Lakes.

Take a picture of your motorcycle (preferably with you in the picture) at each site you visit. The more sites you photograph the more chances you have to win cash and other prizes at the Wing Washington Banquet. Every site is worth one ticket.

Photos must be turned in at the Wing Washington Banquet on October 12, 2013. Write the site name and number on back of each site photo, please. Tickets for the cash prize drawings and other prize drawings will be issued to you when your photos are turned in and validated. If you cannot attend the Banquet, have a friend attending the Banquet submit them on your behalf.

The combined entry fee of $40.00 per person includes the list of 37 Wing Washington sites ($15) and admission to the Banquet ($25), which is the Wing Washington closing event. The Banquet will be held on Saturday, October 12, 2013, 4PM at VFW Post 2995, 4330 148th Ave NE, Redmond, WA, 98052. The site list will be sent to you soon after your registration and entry fees are received, after January 1, 2013. GWTA Chapter E hopes you enjoy participating in Wing Washington – 2013. Ride safe and have fun!
